The entertainment consisted of two plays, "Rural Simplicity" and "Scraps," both of which were full of fou and kept the audience in a roar of laughter. The actors were well up in their respective parts, and fully sustained the good reputation they came to the city with. The entertainment was the first of three nights in the city. Tonight the company will produce the "Electric Sofa" and "Six Peas in a Pod." Master Franklin Jones, who played last night the character of Kitty Merrsill and delighted the audience with his songs and imitations, will appear this evening in "Six Peas in a Pod" as Bettie O'Hara. Master Jones is a remarkable young comedian, and is worthy the attention of the public.
